Sponsor A Conservation Movement

The Katie Adamson Conservation Fund is a community-based endangered animal conservation organization based in the Denver, Colorado area. It was established in 2014 by Zookeeper Dave Johnson after we lost a dear friend and conservation ally, Katie Adamson, in her battle with cancer. Since that day we have been dedicated to a global mission of wildlife protection and cultural compassion.

As a powerful group of all ages and mindsets, we want to leave this world a better place for those that follow. The species we share this planet with deserve protection and dedication, and together we are doing everything we can to ensure they have a place and a voice.

Our annual premier event, Katie's Night, will be host to over 400 guests and we would greatly appreciate your consideration to be a sponsor of the event.
